Hi Phill,

I've attached the invoices and exemptions where they exist for:

VOCO Australia Pty Ltd – They paid their invoice in full, no exemption was granted
City Dental Supplies – They don't have a client ID in GP and are not listed as a client in eBS. Their website doesn't indicate any other trading names. They appear to be a supplier/warehouse, not a manufacturer.
Amalgadent Dental Supplies (Australian) Pty Ltd – Both attached
J Wisbey & Assoc Pty Ltd – Both attached

Cheers

Hi Phill,

Given John's expectation to have this before his meeting with Minister Nash on Monday you may need some assistance from Donna. Please use the top sheet which I prepared for CMA members and attach individual company's product list as requested by John.

Regards

Vinod

Finally received the list of companies from ADIA. I assume that these are only small companies. Any chance of running the numbers before I see Min Nash on Monday. It would be good to provide the spreadsheet of individual products from each company as we will probably need to discuss whether some products would potentially be seen as unique and critical for public health.

Dear John

Thanks for agreeing to have the team at the Therapeutic Goods Administration (TGA) review the impact of the proposed changes to the low value turnover scheme.

Five businesses that are members of the Australian Dental Industry Association (ADIA) have agreed to have their fees reviewed in the process and their details are attached. With respect to VOCO there may need to be a study of the prior years as they missed the cut-off if the present years.

If you could let me know the next step that would be appreciated.

Thanks and regards

Troy
