To whom it may concern,

I wish to voice my concerns about the idea of homeopathic products being declared not therapeutic goods. I have a small family with 2 children and have seen and experienced what they can do for our family and the amazing benefits. Also as a chiropractic practitioner, I have seen the immense benefits it has given to many patients, being a safe and effective alternative to most other medicines. It concerns me at the thought of them not being available. I demand that the option to keep homeopathy regulated the way it is.

Kind Regards,

Anna Meade
